Governor Hill of New York has signed Dr. Platt's bill permitting women to practise law; and Miss Stoneman, sister Gov. Stoneman of California, has been admitted to practice in the courts. She is the chief mover in securing the passage of the law.

The business failures for the week ended Friday numbered for the United States 147 and for Canada 20, or a total of 167 as compared with a total of 176 the previous week. Business casualties seem to be steadily declining throughout the country.

John Darby, a young burglar, who has robbed several cottages at Highlands, Essex, Elberon and Long Branch, N.J., and who pleaded guilty to nine indictments, was sentenced Monday at Fredonia, N.Y., to ten years' hard labor in state-prison on each indictment.

At the annual meeting of the corporation of Yale college, Thursday, President Porter's letter of resignation was received by Prof. Timothy Dwight, professor of literature in Yale divinity school, its unanimously elected president. Prof. Dwight accepts. He is a grandson of the worthy Dwight who was president of the college from 1755 to 1817.

The Chicago police found Sunday under the sidewalk on Robey street 31 seconds of gas-pipe, several inches in length, fitted with dynamite and fuse attached. There were also found two boxes of dynamite caps and a large quantity of fuse. The stuff is believed to have been placed where found by some one who feared a search by the police of their uses.

Dr. Chichester A. Bell, cousin of Prof. Alexander Graham Bell, claims to have made a wonderful discovery, by means of high sound waves, which cause vibrations in a fluid jet can be photographed and accurately reproduced by the aid of microphone. This rival of the phonograph, Prof. Bell says, is of more importance and of greater prospective practical value than even his own invention of the telephone. The report of the things truly accomplished by this invention marvelous.

Mrs. Margaret Domian, a widow of Lincoln county, West Virginia, became sane from religious fanaticism and said that she had been called upon by the Lord to sacrifice the lives of herself and her three children to satisfy the divine wrath. Early on a recent evening she drew herself upon her knees and spent several hours in wild ravings. She then arose, and, arming herself with a large, sharp carving knife, made her way to the room occupied by her three daughters, aged 12, 10 and 8 years. The woman cut the throat of each child and plunged the knife blade deep into her own heart.

Gen. John A. Logan was the guest of the young men's Republican club of Covington, R. I., Friday night, and 500 men sat down to a banquet in his honor. Gen. Logan addressed 2500 people at Civic Hall later in the evening. He reviewed the history of the Democratic party through the years before the war, the results of free trade in well-nigh ruining the industries of the country, the logical outcome of the States' rights doctrine, and the effect of slavery in the south and its influence on the northern democrats. He compared these teachings of the Democratic party with the teachings of the Republican party, in saving and uniting the country, and in scaling it from bankruptcy and its industries from ruin.

FAVOR MR. DOUGLAS.

A correspondent in the south end of our county writes:

"The many friends of F. D. Douglass in this section heartily endorse the suggestion of your correspondent "Voter," in our last issue, with regard to the re-election of county Senator. Why wouldn't they?"

MIDDLEBURY, Vt., May 26, 1886.
Editor Register.—I notice in your last issue a word in favor of F. D. Douglass of Whiting being put in nomination and supported by the Republicans of the county for Senator. He is a good man or the place and will do honor to his constituents. I do not think it will take my name to elect him. I heartily endorse the sentiment of the article referred to above.

PRO BONO PUBLICO.

MIDDLEBURY, Vt., May 27, 1886.
Editor Register.—We notice among the many worthy candidates mentioned in our paper for the position of county senator the name of Francis D. Douglass of Whiting. Mr. Douglass is eminently fitted to perform the practical duties of the office, as whatever he undertakes in the business of life, his energy and good judgment bring with it success. He is an aspiring and office-seeking citizen, but the reliable temperance people of the county desire his nomination, and if he is nominated will labor zealously for his triumphant election.

ONE OF THE PEOPLE.

THE GOVERNORSHIP. A SOUND AND SENSIBLE LETTER.

Editor Register.—Within a few weeks the freemen will be called upon to select a candidate for chief magistrate of the State of Vermont. There are at least two prominent candidates spoken of—Hon. E. J. Ormsbee of Brandon and Hon. J. K. Batchelder of Arlington. Bennington county complains that it has not held a high office for some time past. The speakership of the House of Representatives is a very high and honorable office. I think I can safely say that there is not another county in Vermont that has been as highly honored as Bennington county. In years gone by it was called the "land of governors," from the fact that it had the governor 27 years, which is nearly one-third of the time from the first organization of our government down to the present time.

Rutland county is the largest and wealthiest county in the State. It pays annually nearly three times the amount of cash into the State treasury for the support of government that Bennington county does; hence it is a very remarkable coincidence that Bennington county should have monopolized and have had the governor 27 years and Rutland county only eight years all told.

Unless there are other candidates in the field, the freemen will be called upon to decide whether Rutland county is entitled to the governorship 10 years, or whether they will give it to Bennington county 29 years. I apprehend that it will require very shrewd politicians to convince the freemen that all the executive qualifications, talents and statesmanship are concentrated in Bennington county.

In a republican government, where the elective franchise is vested in the hands of the people, where the high, the low, the rich and poor are all alike eligible to any office in the gift of the people, other things being equal, there should be something like an equal distribution of the posts of honor and profit. Aristocracy has had its day in Vermont. The day has passed by when any man will be governor 19 years as Thomas Chittenden was, or 11 years as Isaac Tichenor was, or 9 years as James Galusha was. For more than a quarter of century the Green Mountains have been the line of demarcation in an official point of view. Custom has made a law that the United States Senators must reside on each side of the Green Mountains. Custom has made a law that the governor can hold his office but two years (instead of 19 years). Custom has made a law that the governor shall reside on one side of the Green Mountains and the Lieutenant-governor on the other side, and these laws are lived up to the letter.

There are only four towns in Western Vermont that exceed Brandon in population and wealth and a less number that excel it in patriotism. I think I can safely say that there is not a town in this section of the State that approaches Brandon in population, intelligence and public spirit but what has been honored to a greater or less extent in an official point of view. Two years ago E. J. Ormsbee of Brandon was elected Lieutenant-governor. The freemen of the State honored Brandon; and Mr. Ormsbee did honor to the Senate chamber.

Mr. Ormsbee was born and brought up on a farm in Sherburne. He followed the example of his townsmen Gov. Jenison and cultivated the soil and his intellect at the same time; he perused page after page in the great book of Nature, which is the foundation of all literature, and acquired a sound practical education. He quit the farm, became a law student and qualified himself for the bar and became a partner of Hon. E. N. Briggs of Brandon. Mr. Ormsbee is a self-made man, as nearly all others are who are worth the making. He possesses an even, well-balanced mind, a mind as pure and elevated as the air he breathes; a sound, discriminating judgment and sterling integrity. His intelligence and social qualities render him the life and animation of the circle in which he moves. He is equally at home in his office, at the bar and in the legislative hall where his voice has been heard and his influence has been felt—or as presiding officer of the Senate.

As a public speaker on some occasions his intellect has a wide range, and he has a faculty to carry conviction to the heads and hearts of his hearers.

His legislative experience, his extensive acquaintance with men, his natural and acquired abilities qualify him for a high position. The Green Mountain Boys—the Allen Grays—will testify that he returned from the South with a good war record.

Mr. Ormsbee has no rich relatives to him forward—and he is too modest a man to put himself forward. He never sought for office, but I trust that offer will seek for him.

ADISON COUNTY FARMER.

THE ADDISON COUNTY CONFERENCE.

The annual meeting with the church in Whiting on Tuesday and Wednesday of this week was one of marked interest and gratifying success. Those who came from the other churches of the county found that their hosts had spared no pains to have in complete readiness everything that could contribute to the convenience and pleasantness of the assembly. Not only had the audience room of the church been renovated, completely and very nicely recarpeted, but on the lower floor of the house, fine suite of rooms, lecture room, parlor, kitchen, etc., had been fitted up in a style that testifies to the good judgment, taste and public spirit of the people. We understand that Mr. Francis Douglass is entitled to large credit for this improvement. The ladies had very beautifully decorated the church with flowers. The arrangements for the entertainment of the guests in these newly-fitted rooms left nothing to be desired, unless they suggested the thought, these good ladies have done too much. The tables and the service were suggestive of the ministers' home at Saratoga. All who staid over Tuesday night found hospitable entertainment in Whiting homes. I trust that some other correspondent will give an account of the work of the conference. It was well done.

THE Cornwall Creamery.

We are now prepared for the reception of milk at our home factory and the manufacture of butter, and shall be prepared to receive milk at our branch, at West Cornwall, in a very short time.

We have superior facilities for carrying on the business and are confident that we can make an article of great excellence.

Parties who have had large experience in selling butter made by the centrifugal process, and know its great superiority, who have given excellent satisfaction to other manufacturers of this kind of goods and are recommended by them, and who are now selling centrifugal butter of Vermont make, above the highest quotations for any variety, stand ready to handle our product and assure us of a ready sale.

We shall make the butter for 3½ cts. per lb., including the tubs, salt, cloths, and carrying to R.R. station when the tubs are of 40 lbs. or over net weight, and charge the extra cost of smaller packages.

We shall make a settlement with our patrons in the first week of each month for the price of the skimmed milk as found after trial and will range from 75 to 80 per cent. of its weight but in proportion to its quality, also.

Each patron will receive back his just proportion of the skimmed milk as found after trial and will range from 75 to 80 per cent. of the weight but in proportion to its quality, also.

We have cleansed a fleece shorn from the ram Wool Grower, No. 475, owned by Virtulon Rich. The fleece weighed 23 lbs. 6 oz., which cleansed wool, 11-2 oz. of scoured wool.

A NOTABLE FLEECE.

The following certificate explains itself. The fleece in question yielded the largest amount of cleaned wool of any on record so far as is known:
